. . . That's all you need to know to solve your Design Expert 11 License serial number issue. Q: AllowBack Up button I have created a button in an app and added an onClick event to it, I have the following code in the onClick event PackageManager pm = getPackageManager(); Intent intent = pm.getLaunchIntentForPackage("com.myapp"); intent.addCategory(Intent.CATEGORY_LAUNCHER); startActivity(intent); I need to have a Back button with my app so that if an user press it, it will go back to the previous activity. How can I make it? Edit: As per your solutions, I have written the following code in the manifest file A: You need to get the Activity to which the user would like to go from. The id of that activity can be retrieved from the intent that you will use to start the activity by using the following code: Bundle extras = getIntent().getExtras(); String packageName = extras.getString("packageName"); From there, you should be able to figure out which Activity to start. ISLAMABAD: The Islamabad High Court (IHC) on Friday extended the remand of Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz president Shehbaz Sharif for another 10 days on charges of lying in the National Accountability Bureau (NAB) reference. A two-member bench of the IHC issued the orders while hearing a plea filed by Shehbaz Sharif's brother Raja Salman on behalf of his client. The bench also granted 50 days time to the NAB by which it would expire. On July 21, 2017, the IHC had extended his last one-day remand by which the NAB was directed to complete its probe within 20 days. To prolong his remand further, a petition was filed by the Sharif family against which its 2018 accountability court decision was enforced. An NAB team visited the family at their house in the Federal Capital on Saturday and presented its report regarding the Lahore Shehbaz Sharif Development Authority's (LSSDA) property.
